

6.9 Kiosks

Input was also collected through the kiosks and surveys distributed at fairs and festivals. Two questions are asked through the kiosks and surveys. The first concerns development location, and asks whether development should be focused in metropolitan centers, community centers, or unfocused; and one asks whether transportation investment should be focused on roads, transit, or combined roads and transit.

The chart below shows the responses to these questions. The most common response involves development in community centers and a focus on investment in both roads and transit. Overall, most respondents selected development in community or metropolitan centers, as well as prioritization of transportation investment on either transit or combined roads and transit. These results are based on over 10,000 responses.
